Not Enough Sinners Left in Town for Police to Work on.

ROUGH RIDER IN RICHMOND.

Belief That a Man May Whip His Wife if He Uses the Right Sized Stick. A Colored Lawyer Does a Kindly Act.

I The cool weather has had a beneficial effect on the spirits of Justice John's con stituents, and their behavior had greatly Improved yesterday over the heated term. The Great Law Giver excused the police from not "doing more work," on the ground that everybody was out of town. the meant those who make up the sum of his labors on the bench.

The Great Dispenser had a very few sinners at the confessional yesterday, and disposed of the work of the day in sample time to hold a meeting of the cur-Fent events club in the boudoir before the lunch hour.

WIFE BEATER.

Charles Jones (colored) got himself in Berious trouble by beating Alice Jones. his wife, with a stick. There is a legend pmong the negroes that the law permits R man to whip his wife, provided, he does not use a stick bigger than his little Inger and they feel greatly injured when the Great Dispenser does not recognize this manly prerogutive of the African Blue Beard.

Charles' stick was in evidence, carefully Jabelled and will be a mute witness whe the trial comes off. It is considerably arger than Charles' little finger and he annot, therefore, put in the time-honored slea which the Great D spenser has so ften overruled.

The woman was unable to appear on account of her injuries and the case was ostponed ten days to await her recovery. FREE RIDES.

Clarence Payne is a merry colored cuss and insisted on enjoying the intoxicating elights of the merry-go-round on Seven-leenth Street, without paying the usual lee. Clarence would jump on one of the yooden horses while in motion, and, swing-ing on like a monkey, would ride until hear to the station of the manager and then firop off into space until another oppor-tunity came for a flying leap and a wild and priceless ride.

"Yes, I rid," was all the information that pould be gotten from the rough rider, of Lumpkin's bettom, and he humped himself to the pen, dragging his bare feet, carrying one shoulder high and to the from while the other hung back in apology for moving at all. For ten days, at least, Clarence's circle will be reduced and he will, per force, have to travel in straight TOOTH AND TOE NAIL.

Edna Mekins (colored) was charged with unlawfully biting Sue Harris and when Edna found out that Sue had gotten out a warrant she got out one too, and the case came up on ross-charges.

It was all about fixing the well bucket.
Sue spoke to her church people about it and they said it was scandalous, but adwised her to have no fuss, but she said whin Edna Meckins dared her down there she didn't have no better sense than to go. Edna fastened her teeth in Sue's fore-arm and the wound looked like the work of a bull-dog. $2.50 each was their portion.

Frank Miller (colored) was charged with running over George Poindexter malicious-ly with a bicycle. Miller is a young co-lored man, and his alleged victim a small colored man, and his alleged victim a small colored boy. The case was postponed to secure witnesses and Mr. J. E. Quarles went on Miller's bond for his appearence. A FRIEND IN NIED.

Lottle Banks (colored) was charged with unlawfully and feioniously assaulting and beating with a rock, with intent to maim, disfigure, disable and kill, Karl Abbott.

Kari had a cut over his left eye that showed plainly through places of transpar-tent court-plaster. Karl is about 16 years old, but made a good witness.

and in her Sunday best, to appear before the Great Dispenser, and then she was in hair let out of its tightly-bound strings, every strand standing outward in Ashantee cashion and her stiffly-starched dress ex-tended like skirts of a whilrling derwish, standing 18 inches above her shoe-

The girl admitted throwing the reck, but said the bey meddled with her first. The boy denied the charge, and, of course, the girl was fined.

But she did not have the money, and pether did her sister, and Lottie did what was natural under the circumstances—set up a howl at the idea of going to the pen—what girl of seven wouldn't?

DESERTED

A colored woman, the girl's sister, was in charge of the little girl, and everybody expected she would step around and pay the fine, but she didn't; she walked away and left the little prisoner with both fists the fine, but she didn't; she walked away and left the little prisoner with both fists stuck in her eyes howing lustily.

This was a situation indeed, and caused the Great Dispenser to look and remark; "Now I've zot an elephant on my hands."

Then it was that J. Thomas Hervin, a young colored lawyer, with gentrous and commendable spirit, stepped forward and paid the fine with costs, and the child skipped out of court with a grateful thank you, sir.

It is worth stating here that Herwin is a new-comer at the bar of the Police Court, and the girl was unknown to him. The generous act caused much favorable

AN ANCIENT DOCUMENT.

Subject of Oysters.

State Board of Education, has in his possession a most interesting paper, in the shape of a letter upon the oyster question, from Hon. Henry A. Wise to Major W. T. Sutherlin, who was, at the time the letter was written, a member of the Virginia Legislature.

The letter is dated Richmond, Va., Dec.

egates from Accomac county. General Wise was a member of the commission on the part of Virginia, to set-tle the boundary line between Maryland and Virginia, and gathered the information imparted to Major Sutherlin in connection with his duties as commissioner.

The letter states it as the opinion of The letter states it as the opinion of General Wise, "from the facts gathered," that the oyster industry at that time could have been made to yield the State an income of $250,000 per year, by levying a tax of 2 1-2 cents per gallon on oyster's taken from Virginia waters, and that the tax could have been more easily borne than that of 50 cents on the $100 worth of land in the State.

Three Boats Refused. The first propeller for the United States orpedo-boat destroyer Date has been successfully cast.

The finishing touches are being put on the Stockton, preparatory to her trial trip up Chesapeake bay and out at sea. It is not yet definitely known when this modern war vessel will take its first trip.

A great many workmen are now kept busy enlarging and deepening the canal in which the boats are launched. There are at present five war vessels in the canal at the William R. Trigg Company's Ship-will have been employed.

It was reported yesterday that the Trigg Company had refused the contracts for three of the submarine torpedo boats. The contracts were, therefore, awarded to Louis Nixon, of Elizabeth, N. Y. The Richmond company is now over-crowded with work, and may wait awhile before accepting any more large contracts.

WILL RECOMMEND A PASTOR.

Rev. Mr. Stealey May Be Called to Broaddus-Memorial Church.

The congregation of Broaddus Memorial Church are hopeful that Rev. Mr. C. P. Stealey, of Martinsburg, W. Va., will become their pastor.

At the service Sunday night the announcement was made that the committee on the selection of a pastor would meet next Sunday afternoon and recommend one out of the three pastors now under consideration. The three pastors are Rev. Mr. Martin, of Atlanta: Rev. Mr. Grace, of Locust Dale, Va.; and Rev. Mr. C. P. Stealey, of Marinsburg, W. Va. It is understood that the committee has lecided to recommend Mr. Stealey and Church.

Rev. Mr. Stealey is originally from the far West, but has for the past five years been pastor of the Baptist Church at Martinsburg, where he has done excellent work and has been eminently success-He is much beloved by the people of Rev.
